INTRODUCTION BIO:

Helping business leaders level up from start up to grown up, from solopreneur to CEO's, from mediocrity to mastery.

Fair warning: I don't do 'get rich quick' or 'failure to success in minutes' type teaching or coaching.

Since 2009 you'll have seen me applying this work to become one of the fastest Master Certified facilitators in the world. I've completed, on average, a line a week of the Demartini Method since 2009 (that's over 650 lines, so you know I've done, and still do the work). I've also increased my client base, my rates, my public presence and attract people who pay my (not small) private coaching fees.

Up until recently, you had to book a 1-on-1 with me or catch me after a seminar to pick my brain about how you can use the Demartini Method to do all that too. (Whether you're a facilitator or in another niche entirely.)

In 2020 I launched the Maximum Growth community to make those insights accessible 24/7. (Well, almost 24/7. Still gotta sleep!)

I'm inspired to educate and empower business leaders on a personal growth journey (like you) to level up.

Interview Topic Suggestions:

- What it means to live on purpose.
- How to do what you love and get paid for it.
- How to make more money and have a life.
- The pathway to creating successful coaching business.

Common Interview Questions:

How did you come to be a coach?

Having done the program for nearly a year, I have found my way of thinking has transformed. Rather than staying stuck in emotional states, that end up effecting not only my business, but my life, I have the ability to ask myself quality questions and shift my perceptions and emotions which helps me focus on creating financial freedom.
